

Erasmus experience review - Ionian University, winter term 2023/24

Studying another semester at the Ionian University from October 2023 until March 2024 was such a good experience. I really enjoyed getting to know new people, other Erasmus students, as well as the locals. I am very grateful for the openness of the people and the friendships that developed! When it comes to bringing people together, organising events/trips and providing general help, the ESN Team did a really good job and everyone was so kind. The social life of Corfu is very versatile also regarding music and art. This semester was also very insightful regarding the classes that I attended at different departments, such as Foreign Languages (DFLTI), Tourism and History. I received broad support from professors to help understand something from the courses. I always felt welcome in general at the University. Whenever I had a problem, the International Office would help me out. From my main studies in Cultural Anthropology, Erasmus also helped me connecting to other disciplines, that still interfere with sociopolitical and historical aspects of the study field at LMU (Munich). It was helpful to take a look outside of one's own department compared the home university.

Apart from that it was really enjoyable to get to know the island further, beaches, activities in nature and going for coffee with friends. I can only recommend Erasmus at the Ionian University also regarding the familiar atmosphere, and Corfu as a beautiful island.