

Minas Emmanouil – Brief CV

Born in Piraeus, he studied music theory and the piano. In 2000, he concluded his studies at the Music Department of the Ionian University in Corfu, emphasizing at music technology, electroacoustic music and sound engineering. In 2002, he finished his MA in Composition (Electroacoustic) at City University, London, where he received a distinction.

His main interests are music composition and sound design for the Performance Arts and moving picture, as well as 3D Audio and immersion spaces. From 2004 to present he systematically composes electroacoustic and mixed media music for theatre, documentaries and short films. In parallel he works as music producer and sound engineer at music studios in Athens.

Started at 2006, he worked as a Laboratory Associate at the Department of Technology of Sound and Musical Instruments of the Technological Institute of Ionian Islands, where, on July 2018, he was elected as Assistant Professor. Today, he continues his academic work at the Department of Music Studies of the Ionian University in Corfu, Greece.

He has been a scholar of Lilian Voudouri Foundation.